

THE MISSING MASCOT

Somebody has stolen the mascot for the South High School vikings on the night before a huge football game. The police need your help! You need to figure out who did it from a list of likely suspects (below). Some of these suspects tell the truth...some will lie. You have to figure out which is which. Megan and Madison are twin cheerleaders, so they only count as one suspect (they do everything together).

There are several locations you can visit to gather more information. You start at your Home, but you can also visit the Police Department, The Park, The School, and the Library. In each location, there are things you can view and interact with that will give you enough information to solve the case.

When you know who did it, submit your final answer to the police department.

Here's a hint to get started: the police know more than they've told the public. If only you could figure it out. Now, turn on the TV and get the full story.

If you have a printer, feel free to print this page out. If you don't have a printer handy, don't worry...it's an interactive form. You can type in this PDF.
